ABOUT WITHALL

WithAll is working toward a world where young people grow up feeling good in their bodies and with food, and where recovery stays within reach for everyone who needs it. We equip the adults who shape kids' lives, starting with healthcare providers, with the words that make a difference, and we fund recovery for people who couldn't otherwise afford it. Together with partners like you, we're proving that the words we choose and the help we give can change a young person's future.

What to Say equips healthcare providers and other trusted adults with simple tools to talk about food and bodies in ways that help kids thrive, and that can help prevent eating disorders before they start.

Recovery Support Program provides grants to people in need so they can pursue intensive eating disorder treatment. 80% of people with eating disorders can't access care, largely because of cost. Our grants cover housing and groceries, the expenses insurance won't, so people can start treatment and see it through to recovery.

KEYS IN BLOOM

Join us for Keys in Bloom a lively evening of dueling pianos where the energy is high and the night feels more like a party than a program. Request your favorites, belt them out with the whole room, and raise your paddle at the auction. Every bid and every gift helps change the lives of young people and people in recovery. You'll leave having had a great night, and having helped WithAll bring eating disorder prevention and recovery resources to the people who need them most. As a sponsor, your brand is front and center with an engaged audience, through on-site recognition, event materials, and promotion before, during, and after the evening.
